Guest Speaker Announced!

Meet Dr. Corey Waller: an addiction, pain, and emergency medicine specialist, TED Talk speaker, and now the Managing Partner of Complex Care Consulting, and Chair of the Legislative Advocacy Committee for the American Society of Addiction Medicine (ASAM)!

In his current roles, Corey Waller, MD, MS, FACEP, DFASAM, is directly responsible for consultation regarding treatment system development and education, as well as all Washington, DC-related matters for ASAM. In his immediate past role of Senior Medical Director for Education and Policy at the National Center for Complex Health and Social Needs, he was responsible for developing and maintaining all training and in-person technical assistance delivered by the National Center. This role covered addiction, pain, and behavioral health treatment system development, payment model implementation, and healthcare policy. Credible is proud to have Dr. Waller present two sessions at the 2018 Partner Conference! The main focus will be:

Improving Outcomes in Addiction and Pain Management

In this presentation, we will explore the ecosystems of care required to deliver high quality care to complex patients. This will focus on how the neuroscience drives the treatment and why the ecosystem approach is the only viable answer.

The Future of Addiction Medicine: How to Embrace the New Without Losing the Best of the Traditional

In this session, we will deep dive into evidence surrounding addiction medicine and how to implement these new treatments into the legacy treatment systems of addiction, including both the adaptive requirements and the technical aspects.
